

Building a Quality Course: Stacking in Academic Rigor, Course Level, and Alignment

Presenters: Katherine Ostdiek, Janel Heitz, and Biz Rapp

Does your course stack up? Alignment, academic rigor, and course level are key building blocks for quality course design. If one block is missing, the whole structure might tumble like a Jenga puzzle. See how we created a rubric to ensure our courses were built to put student success on top!

Presentation

Ostdiek, K., Heitz, J., & Rapp, B. (2021, Nov. 3-5). Building a quality course: Stacking in academic rigor, course level, and alignment [Conference presentation]. 2023 Higher Ed Quality in Action, online.

Course Rubrics

Department of Design and Development. (2021). Course leveling rubric. Bellevue University

Course Level Task Force. (2012). Defining course levels. (2012). Bellevue University.

Academic Rigor

Bloom's taxonomy verbs. (2021). Future focused learning.
<https://get.futurefocusedlearning.net/blooms-taxonomy-verbs>

Daggett, W. R. (2005). Achieving academic excellence through rigor and relevance. International Center for Leadership in Education.

Rigor and relevance framework. (2021). International Center for Leadership in Education.
<https://leadered.com/rigor-relevance-and-relationships-frameworks/>

Schwegler, A. F. (2019). Contextualizing academic rigor. Quality Matters.
<https://www.qualitymatters.org/sites/default/files/research-docs-pdfs/QM-WP-2-ContextualizingAcademicRigor-2019.pdf>